GENERAL MOTORS EXECUTIVES VISITED PORT FREEPORT

Freeport, TX (June 22, 2017) – On June 16th, General Motors (GM) Executives visited Port Freeport. Delegates from Hoegh Autoliners, Horizon Terminal Services, AMPORTS, and Red Hook Terminals were also present. The group was provided an overview of the Port’s strategic objectives for growth which include the Harbor Channel deepening and widening project, the expansion of Velasco Terminal, the rail connected Multimodal Industrial Park and the Texas International Trade Corridor. General Motors exports vehicles manufactured in Texas on the worldwide Ro/Ro carrier Hoegh Autoliners. General Motors also utilizes newly established vehicle processing and storage facilities at Port Freeport. These facilities are operated by Horizon Terminal Services.

Port Freeport is grateful for the partnership it has shared with General Motors over the recent years, and looks forward to continuing to grow its partnership with General Motors for many years to come.
